

Speaker Introduction – Kathy McAfee

You can describe our speaker in many ways.

She's an executive presentation coach and trainer.

She trains business professionals how to reach their highest potential.

She's an expert on communication and networking.

She's an award-winning blogger, and a two-time author, including Networking Ahead for Business, and her newest book, Stop Global Boring, both of which are available for signing after this event.

And best of all, she's a registered voter.

A graduate of Stanford University with a degree in Economics, Kathy McAfee (pronounced măc-ă-Fēē) is also a second degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do (pronounced tie-qwon-dough), and an ovarian cancer survivor.

But one word describes Kathy McAfee best. That word is—motivator. Please welcome America's Marketing Motivator, Kathy McAfee.